

Trash Bash

A bilingual (English/Spanish) performance and workshop about reusing and recycling

For kids and families

02 | The Performance

Summary

MacGyver for kids. We follow Maite and Pepe as they solve problems and have fun using only recycled materials and their imagination. With each adventure they prove, once again, that “One person’s trash is another kid’s treasure!”

In this adventure our imagination travelers have finally made it to the stage to meet all their new friends in the audience. But...OOPS! They brought the wrong bags. They brought trash bags. YUCK!

Instead of panicking they remember that before trash was trash it was something else: trees, metal, petroleum. So, why can't it be something else again?

This reminds them of a story: the time they saved a circus with nothing but two used cans and some old string. After the story, they teach the audience how to build the craft that helped them save the circus.

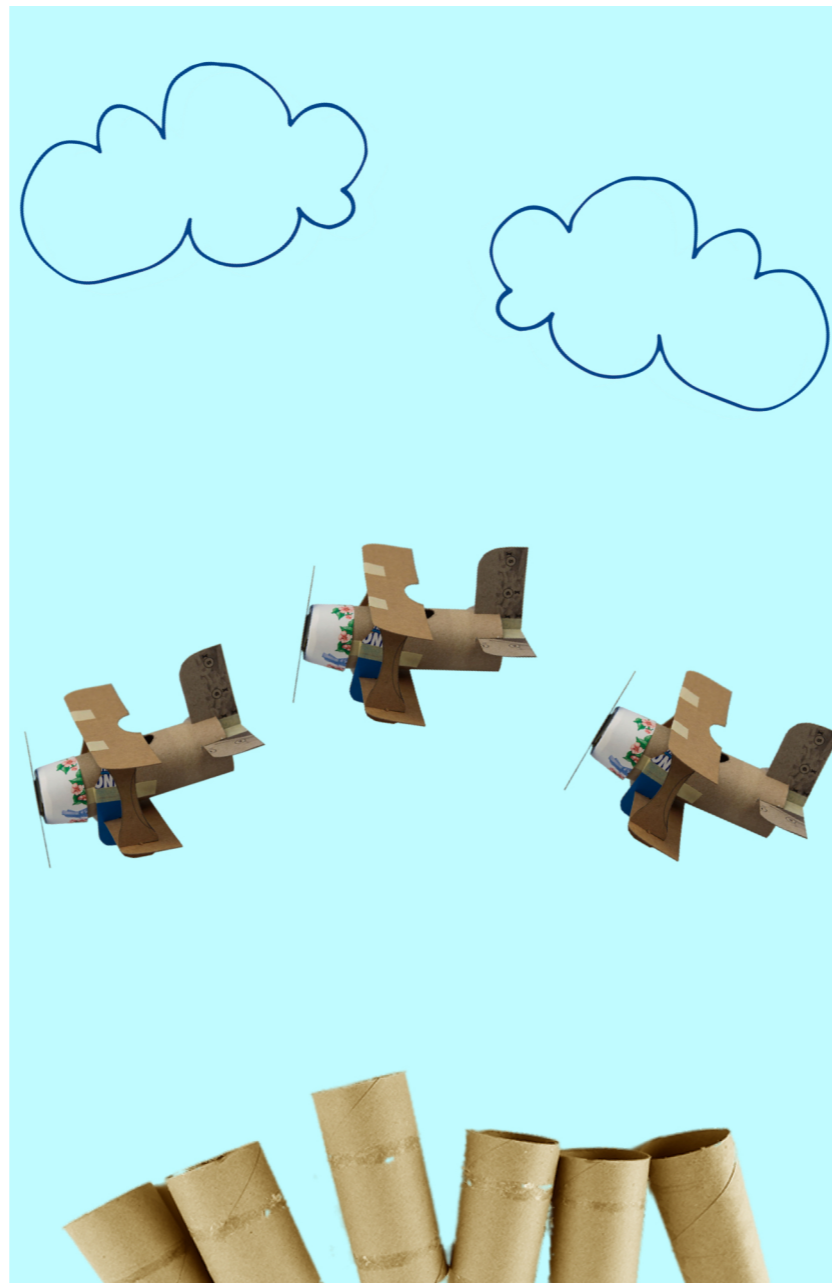

Next, they teach the audience how to use a toilet paper roll to make “imagination planes.” They finish by having everyone fly their planes while they sing the Trash Bash Song

03 The Crafts

“Circus Stilts” made from used cans and string.

“Imagination Planes” made from cereal boxes and toilet paper rolls.

We will provide all materials for the workshop. We will also provide a list of the recyclables that we will be using during the workshop in case families would like to make gathering their own part of the learning experience.

Performance/workshop length:

1 Hour, consisting of a 30 minute performance and 30 minute workshop. If extra time is available in the schedule, we are happy to spend that time decorating and exploring with the crafts.
